MEET THE PANEL

Krystal Roden

Krystal has worked extensively in the realm of Public Relations and Event Management. She previously worked as the Manager of a theatre where she was responsible for marketing plans, creating social media content, event management, staffing and overseeing the financials of the business.

Martin O'Donnell

Martin is an experienced administrator and retail business owner with over 35 years experience. He has held high level accounting/administration roles and consulting roles with various organisations. Martin has a Bachelor of Business and is a graduate of the Australian Institute of Company Directors. His aim is to use this commercial and hands on experience to guide business owners towards becoming more in control of their enterprises.

Chontelle Egan

Originally from Griffith and brought up in a family owned small business ran by my grandparents and parents, I have worked for Service NSW for just over 3.5 years. As a Business Concierge, I can offer face to face support for businesses who are looking to start or grow a business. I can assist with government grants, permits/licences and negotiate the red tape. I am also able to offer a number of referral options for business advice and assistance.

Sue Pearce

I commenced grant writing as coordinator for the Griffith Shed for Men some 11 years ago and had phenomenal success with outcomes far beyond any comparative Men Shed. Feedback from Assessment teams, the Australian Men Shed Association grant writing team and by consultation with a grant writing expert encouraged me to pursue a career in this field. I attribute my high success rate to not only writing a grant but becoming one with the organisation I am writing for.
